Profile

I am a multimedia design student who has an aptitude for code and thinking logically. Optimising code and fixing bugs is not just part of the job, it's an exciting process that elevates a project. Naturally curious and eager to learn, I ask clarifying questions to ensure I understand the 'why' behind each decision. I approach projects methodically, keeping the bigger picture in mind while maintaining strong organization. I enjoy collaborating with others, sharing knowledge, and learning from teammates to achieve the best possible results together.

Below are my six best competencies as rated by six people who know me and have worked with me.

Education

Multimediedesign

Erhvervs Akademi Aarhus

Associate Degree

26 August 2024 - Ongoing

A practical education where I have worked with multiple projects both solo and in groups. The education focused on informed-design, using UX and design theory to choose how to make web-applications, thinking about user-flows, onboarding, ease of use and more. This approach to design takes all levels of the project into account when considering each individual part, giving a good overview of the project as a whole.

Work experience

Baker's Apprentice • Det Gyldne Brød

Full time

2023 - 2024

As part of my work in the bakery I handled preparations for the next days production, and ongoing refilling of long-term items such as cakes. It was a small bakery and we would typically be 3 people during the work day, and had to provide goods for the in house location and a secondary location. Due to the high demand I learned how to optimise my work and organise my workflow to most effectively complete the day's tasks.

Hobbies

I enjoy a variety of creative hobbies and enjoy spending time with other people. I run a weekly DND game for three friends and my partner, I paint models, read books, and write. I have also done various voluntary work at sports events, conventions, student councils and was part of the organiser team for Koyo-con and Koyo-com Summer for a year.
